LEGISLATION ABOUT LANGUAGE – SOLUTION OF LINGUISTIC OR POLITICAL PROBLEMS?

In 2009 the Parliament of the Slovak Republic passed a bill on the state language. According to official Bratislava the new act conforms to European standards, but Hungarian minority discontented with it says that it violates the international law. Will it be useful for the language purity or it will be used as an instrument in political debates? The paper examines different points of view and discussions about the Act on the state language in Slovak republic over last several months.
