TRANSLATION AND RECEPTION OF CONTEMPORARY SERBIAN AND BULGARIAN LITERATURE IN HUNGARY

The paper presents a comparison of the translation and reception of contemporary Serbian and Bulgarian literature in Hungary. While the number of translated into Hungarian contemporary Serbian authors is approximately the same as the Hungarian works published in Serbia, the Bulgarian literary presence in Hungary is rather modest. The Bulgarian state „sacrifices” little financial means for promoting Bulgarian literature abroad, and also, the Hungarian publishing houses show little interest in this particular literature.
