
Mihail Videnov

AGAIN ON THE LONG (FULL) FORM OF THE DEFINITE ARTICLE IN BULGARIAN

The topic about the rule on the differential use of the masculine singular definite article was often discussed during the last century. The author of this article shows in brief the grammatical situation in modern Bulgarian and proves the artificial character of this rule for which existence it is not easy to find rational arguments.

Keywords: Bulgarian literary language, long definite article, short definite article, discussion, grammar rule, full definite article
